EXPERTISE

Ryan is a Senior Vice President in the Washington, DC, Series of Lockton Companies and serves as the designated cyber liability brokerage expert.

Ryan graduated from Penn State University in 2009, and he advanced his knowledge of network operations and security while working at the Bloomberg LP data centers. Ryan has vast experience designing complex E&O/Cyber insurance programs inclusive of manuscript policy development and program implementation, which he developed while working as a Tech/Cyber Underwriter at two leading insurance carriers, CNA and XL, and as the leader of the Cyber Technology Practice at Lockton DC. As a result of this experience, Ryan “thinks like an underwriter,” a mindset that serves his Lockton clients well as the cyber market evolves in the face of new risks and challenges.

Ryan is a frequent speaker at large industry events and participates as a key resource for Lockton globally in communication to our clients on cyber issues.
